IMPORTANT LIMITS FOR REGISTERED PLANS

Registered Retirement Savings Plan

A Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP) allows Canadian residents to contribute up to 18% of their previous year's earned income, subject to the annual RRSP limit established by the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA).

Tax-Free Savings Account

A Tax-Free Savings Account (TFSA) allows Canadian residents to save their money tax-free, subject to the annual TFSA dollar limit established by the CRA. Investments in a TFSA will grow tax-free; you will not pay tax on income or capital gains earned within the account, even when you make a withdrawal.

Any unused TFSA contribution room is carried forward to future years, therefore, if you have not contributed to a TFSA in previous years, you may have up to $81,500 in accumulated TFSA contribution room.

Registered Education Savings Plan

One of the ways to save for a child's education, while retaining ownership of assets, is through a Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP). An RESP offers certain tax advantages and government grants (federal and provincial, where applicable), that make it an attractive savings vehicle.

Individual Pension Plans

An Individual Pension Plan (IPP) is a defined benefit pension plan established by an employer to provide pension benefits for an employee after retirement. The maximum pension benefit that an employee can accrue for each year of service is 2% of their T4 earnings, subject to the annual defined benefit limit established by the CRA.
